

The goal of Crazy Eights is to develop female athletes and give them the tools and drive, to develop into college athletes. My personal goal is for these young women to gain positive role models who have succeeded by working hard and battled through tough times. My all female staff has reached their dream of playing college hockey and each of their stories teaches these young athletes that it was not something just handed to them.

Crazy Eights is moving forward by focusing on skill development and power skating. This summer power skating and edge control will be a main focus every day. There will be a specific power skating coach to run each session.

Skill development is the afternoon focus. The ice will be separated into stations to breakdown the game of hockey and help the players improve in every area individually. Specifically stick handling, puck protection, shooting in any situation, and developing a competitive drive! The end of every day will bring small area games to incorporate these skills into game situations.

The lunch sessions will include a variety of lessons to these young athletes. We will break down the game of hockey along with giving advice in regards to recruiting, nutrition, training, and what a day in the life of a college player is like.

The overnight addition to camp is a great opportunity for players from all over to experience Crazy Eights and what it has to offer. Top notch all female staff with a skill focus. For those local players it is a chance to spend more time together and with other from across the state with a similar passion and drive.
